APPLICATION OF TARIFFS

These Tariffs apply to the General Exchange Telephone Service of the Telephone Company in Indiana. In the event of a conflict between any rate, rule, regulation, or provisions contained in these General Exchange Tariffs and any rate, rule, regulations, or provisions contained in the Local Service Tariff, the rate, rule, regulation, or provision in the local Tariff shall apply.

The provision of services and facilities, as provided herein, is subject to the General Rules and Regulations of the Telephone Company, which General Rules and Regulations as they now exist or as they may be revised, added to, or supplemented by superseding issues are hereby made a part of these General Service Tariffs.

Provisions contained within these General Service Tariffs relating to particular types or character of telephone service shall constitute an obligation on the Telephone Company to furnish that particular type or character of telephone service only if and when the Telephone Company has filed with the Public Service Commission of Indiana a rate or charge covering that particular type or character of service.

These Tariffs cancel and supersede all other Exchange Service Tariffs or General Service Tariffs of the Telephone Company, excepting Message Toll Tariffs, issued and effective prior to the effective date of these Tariffs.

3. 4. Where the place of business and the residence of a subscriber are on the same premises and no telephone is installed in the place of business, the business rate shall be charged for the telephone installed in the residence.
5. At residence locations, when an extension station or extension bell is located in a shop, office, or other place of business.
6. In any location where such location and expected usage of the service indicates a business.

B. Residence Rates Apply at the Following Locations:

3. In the place of residence of a clergyman, or nurse, and in the place of residence of a physician, surgeon or other medical practitioner, dentist or veterinary, provided the subscriber does not maintain an office in the residence.

COMBINATION MAIN STATION SERVICE:

Outgoing calls can be made at any station so arranged.

Combination main stations may be employed where one station is at a business location and the other at a residence, or where all stations are at either business or residence locations. However, such an arrangement is permitted only on the premises of individuals or firms associated with each other.

The lines are bridged together so as to operate as one line. Code ringing as a means of distinguishing between calls for business or residence shall be provided only when it is practical to handle the service on this basis.

The rate for each main station is the established individual line rate; the business or residence rate is applied in accordance with the character of the use at each premise.

CONSTRUCTION, INSTALLATION AND MAINTENANCE CHARGES

A. General

Special charges in the form of installation charges, construction charges and monthly charges are applicable in addition to the usual service connection charges and monthly rates when, because of the occasional nature of the service, the lack of permanency, the unusual investment or expense, or any other condition under which the Telephone Company is not properly protected in the proposed investment or the revenue does not reasonably compensate the Telephone Company—as for example:

- (1) Conditions requiring the provision of special equipment or unusual methods of plant construction, installation, or maintenance.
- (2) The customer's location requires the use of costly private right of way.

B. Extension of Facilities

For extensions required either within or outside the base rate area where the proposed service is temporary and the plant to be put in place would not all be of value to the Telephone Company in the general conduct of its business upon discontinuance of that service, the customer shall be charged the estimated cost of construction and removal of the plant (including circuits, pole line or conduit as required) which is not of value to the Telephone Company, less the estimated immediate net recovery value of the material used.

If it is necessary to use private right of way and this cannot be obtained by the Telephone Company without expense to it, the subscriber shall obtain or pay the expense of obtaining the required right of way.

Rules and regulations relating to extension of rural line service are found elsewhere in this tariff.

C. Underground Construction

Where aerial facilities are being used to provide service to a subscriber's location and the subscriber requests that facilities be placed underground, the change from aerial to underground will be made at an installation charge equal to the estimated cost of installing the underground facilities and removing the aerial facilities, less the immediate net recovery value of the aerial facilities displaced.

In the case of a new installation where aerial entrance would normally be employed and the subscriber requests underground entrance the subscriber shall pay the difference between the estimated costs of aerial and underground entrance.

When the subscriber requests that facilities be placed underground the subscriber shall dig and backfill any and all trench or trenches necessary at his own expense.

PUBLIC TELEPHONE SERVICE:

A public telephone is an exchange station installed at the Telephone Company's option, in charge of an attendant, or equipped with a coin collecting device, at a location chosen or accepted by the Company as suitable and necessary for furnishing service to the general public.

One extension station may be permitted with a semi-public telephone service at the regular business extension rate. The extension station is not equipped with coin boxes, dials, and is intended only for the answering of incoming calls.

Such extension must be clearly visible from the semi-public station and notice of its existence must be posted at the location of the semi-public station.
